

“As a historian, I have learned to be very suspicious of simple, one purpose answers. That’s because one trait they all share is that they’re wrong.”

